Market and fund commentary

The Australian equity market was focused on reporting season in August, with the S&P/ASX300 Accumulation Index rising 1.40%. Profit results were generally solid, although forward guidance was softer with early signs of cost pressures impacting some companies.

The Australian market also had to navigate a leadership spill and a new Prime Minister, Scott Morrison, who was sworn in on 24 August. The local index underperformed the US market (S&P500 +3.3%) but outperformed European markets (FTSE 100 -3.3%, MSCI Asia ex Japan -0.6%, and Euro Stoxx 50 -3.7%).

Australian economic data was generally solid (retail sales were stronger than market expectations and consumer sentiment and business conditions rose), although dwelling prices fell 1.6% year-on-year. US, European and Chinese economic data were all weaker than expectations.

Oil was stronger (Brent +5% to US$78/bbl), while bulk commodities were mixed (met coal +7% to US$184/t, thermal coal -3% to US$119/t, iron ore -2% to US$66/t). Base metals were weak (aluminium +2%, copper -3%, nickel -6%, zinc -5%), while gold fell 2% to US$1,207/oz. The AUD/USD fell 3% to US$0.72.

The best sectors for the month were Telcos (+13.1%), Information Technology (+12.9%), Health Care (+10.7%) and Consumer Discretionary (+3.5%), while Materials (-4.8%), Energy (-1.2%) and Financials ex REITs (flat) lagged.

The Bennelong Kardinia Absolute Return Fund returned 1.08% in August, with most key positions in the portfolio reporting solid results during profit reporting season.

CSL (+74 basis point contribution for the month) was the biggest individual stock contributor after delivering a profit result that beat its upgraded guidance from May. The result was driven by continued strong immunoglobulin volume growth and market share gains due to the addition of a substantial number of plasma collection centres. Afterpay Touch (+30bp) rallied after raising $117m via an institutional placement to fund its international expansion strategy in the US and UK, with the US market showing good early momentum. WorleyParsons (+25bp) benefited from several contract wins and a result that demonstrated the upswing in the profit cycle is now well underway. Seven Group (+25bp) delivered a result and guidance that were above consensus expectations, driven by a cyclical upswing in equipment capex and rental demand. Lead indicators in mining and civil markets were positive, with improved forward orders and increasing lead times for equipment.

A2 Milk (+20bp) reported a strong result with net profit up 116% driven by strong infant formula sales growth and market share gains.

In the individual short book, large gains from shorts in a packaging company (+23bp) and a mining stock (+10bp) were offset by shorts in retail, telco and consumer staples stocks.

Origin Energy (-51 basis point contribution for the month) fell after issuing weak FY19 guidance for its Energy Markets business due to electricity hedging costs and the impact of political pressure on energy prices. Rio Tinto (-27bp) pulled back after its result confirmed that cost inflation was beginning to impact profits. This was despite declaring a 15% increase to the dividend and a US$1b top-up to its existing share buyback. Independence Group (-18bp) fell largely as a result of the fall in the nickel price as its result had been pre-announced. Whitehaven Coal (-16bp) reported a record profit result and announced a 13cps special dividend which exceeded market expectations, however production guidance underwhelmed and thermal coal prices were weaker for the month. BWX (-15bp) fell after downgrading profit guidance due to poor performance from recent acquisitions and a delay to any potential bid for the company as a result of its strategic review. Reliance Worldwide (-15bp) reported an in line result but guidance was below market expectations and the stock fell 11% for the month, despite upgrading expected synergies from the John Guest acquisition.

Net equity market exposure was decreased from 67.3% to 55.2% (68.9% long and 13.7% short), with the key changes being the sale of Westpac, NAB and Origin Energy, partially offset by increased weightings in CSL, Whitehaven Coal and Afterpay and the closure of a short position in Share Price Index Futures.
