

FUND OBJECTIVE

The NWQ Global Markets Fund (Fund), managed by NWQ Capital Management, is a diversified multi manager portfolio. The principal investment objective of the Fund is to produce returns commensurate with the volatility target of 15% p.a. as measured by the long term standard deviation of monthly returns.

This is achieved through active allocations to a select number of liquid alternative managers that employ a variety of strategies. The Fund places emphasis on managers who demonstrate a rigorous and repeatable investment process that has delivered a strong track record.

COMMENTARY

The NWQ Global Markets Fund (Fund) fell -1.67% in the month of May.

The Fund has returned +2.19% since inception in September 2018 and has delivered investors meaningful diversification, particularly during the December quarter of 2018.

The US equity market reached a new record close on May 1 as muted inflation and buoyant consumer spending were seen as supportive of a continuation of the Fed's dovish tilt. However, those hoping for an imminent Fed rate cut were frustrated by Chairman Powell's reaffirmation of the Fed's patient approach to monetary policy and the suggestion that weaker inflation may be transitory. This led to a fall in the US equity market that was exacerbated by a heightening of the trade tensions between the US and China. The technology sector was front and centre as Chinese firm Huawei was placed on a blacklist by President Trump and this had a cascading effect with declines in technology stocks in the US, Europe, and Asia. US and European equity markets suffered their largest monthly decline for the year while safe haven assets such as US Treasuries, the US Dollar, and Japanese Yen strengthened. This market backdrop was more favourable for the Fund's discretionary managers (+2.38%) as compared with the systematic managers (-3.99%).

The Fund's currency exposures were the largest positive contributor in May. However, these gains were more than offset by losses in the Fund's equity exposures. The Fund's fixed income positions combined to produce a modest loss while there was a small gain overall from the Fund's commodities positions.
