COMMENTARY

The NWQ Fiduciary Fund (Fund) returned +4.13% in April compared with the HFRI benchmark return of +2.14%.

Global stock markets rallied into US corporate earnings season on solid economic data and the Fed's implicit commitment to prioritise the economic recovery and employment over moves to curb inflation. Despite the vast majority of companies outperforming analysts' earnings expectations only a little over half saw their share price rise. This suggests that the 'good news' was already in the price and that investors are concerned about the sustainability of these earnings as inflationary pressures build and the global outlook worsens with COVID infection rates remaining high in many countries. The Australian stock market (+3.47%) was led by the Information Technology (+9.68%), Materials (+6.85%), and Industrials (+4.26%) sectors with the Energy (-4.87%), Consumer Staples (-2.43%), and Utilities (-1.16%) sectors lagging.

The Fund's outperformance demonstrated our underlying managers' skills in stock selection, outperforming a strongly rising stock market (Fund +4.13% vs +3.47% for the market) while maintaining throughout the month a modest 30% net exposure to the market. The Fund continues to maintain a modest net stock market exposure of 30% and no direct exposure to interest rates providing our investors with comforting diversification in an environment where equity and bond market valuations are elevated.
